LOCATION

Anantara The Marker offers contemporary urban luxury overlooking the Grand Canal Square's waterfront. Perfectly located in the modernised Docklands, the hotel captures the unique mix of vibrant charm and rich culture that exemplifies the spirit of modern Dublin.

Originally a significant Viking Settlement and Port, Dublin's character has been shaped by architecture spanning from medieval to modern times. Built by the greatest engineers of the age, the Grand Canal Docks were the final point of the Grand Canal (An Chanáil Mhór), connecting Dublin, in the east of Ireland, with the River Shannon in the west, via a series of villages and towns.

In recent years, the area has developed to become one of the trendiest places to live, work and play in Dublin. It is home to the headquarters of numerous global players in the banking, legal and tech sector. With companies such as TikTok, Google and AirBnB choosing Grand Canal Dock as their base, the futuristic area has become affectionately known as "Silicon Docks".

ANOTHER MILESTONE IN HISTORY

The hotel name 'The Marker' is a mark of respect for one of the greatest inland trade routes, the Grand Canal. The direct link with the exotic trading hubs of Europe, the Grand Canal's 82 miles were lined with cast iron 'markers'. These markers were like milestones, showing travellers how far they had to go until journey's end. The final marker was right where the hotel is located now, in Grand Canal Square. Inspired by the innate Irish love of adventure, travel and trade, the hotel's name embodies this rich history, giving it a new sense of place in a contemporary context.

The building's architecture draws on the elemental nature of the Irish landscape and combines it with a sleek urban aesthetic, creating an experience that is distinctly authentic and truly inimitable. Inspiration comes from the geometric shapes that exist naturally on the Irish island, from the rugged Burren Landscape to the unique hexagonal stones of the Giant's Causeway.

This elemental style seamlessly extends from the stunning ground floor bar and restaurant, through to the unique geometric layouts of our 187 bedrooms, to the breathtaking rooftop Bar & Terrace, reaching across the cityscape to the wild natural beauty of the mountains and the Irish Sea.

ACCOMMODATION

Most rooms and suites have striking views over Grand Canal Square and the Docklands, to the Dublin and Wicklow mountains and the Dublin Bay. Bathed in natural light, spacious and designed with supreme comfort and style, all guest rooms set a new standard in city living.

Deluxe Room

Deluxe Rooms harmonise beauty and functionality, with ergonomic furnishings and high-tech amenities designed in a sleek, contemporary style. The bespoke furniture has been crafted by Irish designers, while original artwork showcases some of the best home-grown talent. The bathroom is indulgent, with floor-to-ceiling marble creating an astonishing sanctuary, and luxurious toiletries exclusively by VOYA.

Premium Room

In addition to all the style and comforts of a Deluxe Room, the Premium Rooms are perfectly positioned to offer guests an impressive and sweeping view of Grand Canal Square. High-tech amenities range from an interactive entertainment system to a Nespresso Zenius machine. Make a fresh brew, then sink into an Eames-style chair or Villeroy & Boch marble bathtub.

Premium Room View

Premium Room with View is a bright and spacious room with a view over Bord Gáis Energy Theatre. High-tech amenities range from an interactive entertainment system to a Nespresso Zenius machine.

Premium Grand Canal View Room

Premium Room with Grand Canal View highlight the hotel's impressive and sweeping view over Grand Canal Square and the waterfront. High-tech amenities range from an interactive entertainment system to a Nespresso Zenius machine.

Junior Corner Suite

Corner Suites are ideal for business travellers or families, with extra space to work, lounge and rest. Natural sunlight falls on the desk with Eames-style chair, a freshly brewed espresso is at your fingertips, and cots can be added for children with space easily left over for play.

Junior Corner Suite with View

Wake up to views of water beside the bustling Grand Canal Square, the cityscape beyond, and then the misty Wicklow Mountains in the distance. The luxurious Junior Corner Suite with View epitomises modern elegance, with original Irish artworks and plush colourful fabrics adorning the light space.

One Bedroom Suite

With a separate living room brimming with plush rugs, pillows and throws, a designer sofa set and original paintings, our two One Bedroom Suites are the home away from home you never had. Choose from The Roche, named after Dublin-born Nobel Prize architect of Convention Centre Dublin, which overlooks the iconic building or The Schwartz, named after the Grand Canal Square designer, showcasing sixth floor views of the square.

Presidential Suite

An expansive 129 square metres (1400 sq ft.); The Presidential Suite is located on the unhampered fifth floor that boasts unobstructed views of Grand Canal Square and iconic architectural landmarks – both old and new – that make up the city’s unique fabric. Two bedrooms with ensuites open onto a breakfast room and separate living room decked out in comforts from specially commissioned furnishings and art to a Nespresso machine.
